NEWBORN PHOTOGRAPHY SPECIALIST

"Lucy definitely has an incredible talent for newborn photography. With her calm and gentle nature, she worked her magic on my on 9 day old son and his 3 year old brother. Her studio is stunning and we were immediately made to feel welcome and relaxed. The morning was such a lovely, enjoyable experience. Lucy has captured precious memories that we will cherish forever. We cannot thank you enough, the photos are beautiful."

Why Lucy Shaw Photography?

Nestled in a quiet, relaxed and homely environment in Halesowen, you'll find newborn specialist photographer, Lucy Shaw. Having been a professional photographer for over 15 years, you're in the best hands for a wonderful and memorable experience.

Photography has always been my passion, I live and breathe it which is why I pride myself on such a beautiful studio. For me, it is about the complete experience you receive when capturing those precious moments and your journey throughout the day. That's why, at my bespoke studio, I offer everything you need for you and baby to ensure the most relaxing environment.

My two children inspire me daily and my home is filled with so many memories of them growing and changing - which is why my passion in the art of newborn photography will ensure that you and your baby have a truly special experience. When I photograph for others, I'm reminded each and every time of my drive to excel in this craft and I'm truly motivated to create the best images and memories for you.

What does a newborn photoshoot cost and when to book?

A £50 deposit is taken to book your space in the diary, which will cover your session fee. You will then have the opportunity to order your favourite images following the photoshoot at your viewing appointment, usually a week after your photo shoot.

Newborn sessions book up really quickly and so it is recommended that you get in touch early on in your pregnancy so a spot can be pencilled in for your due date (it's best to book your photoshoot after your 20 week scan).

Once baby arrives, please contact me and we can schedule a time within the first two weeks - sessions are best when baby is just 6-14 days old to achieve those beautiful sleepy poses!

How long does the photoshoot last?

Sessions last around 2-3 hours depending on feeding and settling, I only book one newborn photoshoot in per day so there is no time limit and no need to rush - you can't rush babies! Baby comes first and if they need to be changed, fed or have cuddles this is our priority. Once baby is settled they should be ready for us to photograph. It's a good idea to bring a snack along but we do provide endless tea, coffee, soft drinks and a comfy sofa for you to relax.

What do I need to bring?

Nothing apart from your usual nappy bag essentials. If you are bottle feeding I advise to bring extra milk as babies may feed more during our photoshoot and this can help to settle them. I have a changing table and bottle warmer if needed. If you are using a soother I advise to bring it with you as this can also help to settle.

I have everything we need for the photoshoot, we can have fun picking out the perfect props and wraps to include in the photographs. If there is anything you wish to bring you are very welcome and we can discuss this prior to the photoshoot.

Do you take sibling and family groups too?

Yes, this is all part of the session. If you are bringing along siblings too we tend to take these photographs together first before we photograph just baby. When picking clothing out for these photographs I recommend classic plain clothes in neutral colours - whites, cream, brown, black or grey look best for a timeless look avoiding logos and patterns. We can discuss this in detail before the photoshoot if you need any more advice.

What happens following the photoshoot?

Following your photoshoot we make an appointment before you leave to come back to the studio for your viewing appointment (usually a week later) to view your images and discuss how you would like to display them in your home. Following the viewing appointment I can also send you a link for family to view all the photographs and order directly with me if they wish.

This all sounds great! How do I book?
